

NEVER TOO OLD TO BE CURED.

S. S. S. is a Great Blessing to Old People. It Gives Them New Blood and Life.

Age does not necessarily mean feebleness and ill health, and nearly all of the sickness among older people can be avoided. Most elderly people are very susceptible to illness, but it is wholly unnecessary. By keeping their blood pure they can fortify themselves so as to escape three-fourths of the ailments from which they suffer so generally. S. S. S. is the remedy which will keep their systems young, by purifying the blood, thoroughly removing all waste accumulations, and imparting new strength and life to the whole body. It increases the appetite, builds up the energies, and sends new life-giving blood throughout the entire system.

Mrs. Sarah Pike, 477 Broadway, South Boston, writes: "I am seventy years old, and had not enjoyed good health for twenty years. I was sick in different ways, and in addition had Eczema terribly on one of my legs. The doctor said that on account of my age, I would never be well again. I took a dozen bottles of S. S. S. and it cured me completely, and I am happy to say that I feel as well as I ever did in my life."

Mr. J. W. Loving, of Colquitt, Ga., says: "For eighteen years I suffered tortures from a fiery eruption on my skin. I tried almost every known remedy, but they failed one by one, and I was told that my age, which is sixty-six, was against me, and that I could never hope to be well again. I finally took S. S. S., and it cleansed my blood thoroughly, and now I am in perfect health."

S. S. S. FOR THE BLOOD is the only remedy which can build up and strengthen old people, because it is the only one which is guaranteed free from potash, mercury, arsenic and other damaging minerals. It is made from roots and herbs, and has no chemicals whatever in it. S. S. S. cures the worst cases of Scrofula, Cancer, Eczema, Rheumatism, Tetters, Open Sores, Chronic Ulcers, Boils, or any other disease of the blood. Books on these diseases will be sent free by Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.

ADMIRAL DEWEY AT HOME.

Olympia Drops Anchor Off Tompkinsville Today.

ALL ARE WELL ON BOARD.

Remarkably Fast Voyage Across the Atlantic.

NEW YORK A BLAZE OF COLOR

Unprecedented Welcome to Be Given the World's Greatest Sailor by the Citizens of America's Premier City.—Work for the Reception Committee Made by His Arrival Ahead of Schedule Time—Plans Are Magnificent—Large Attendance Certain.

New York, Sept. 26.—Much to the surprise of everyone in the city the Olympia, with Admiral Dewey on board, arrived off the Sandy Hook Lightship at 5:55 this morning. There was a heavy mist on the sea, and at first the marine observers were inclined to think the vessel sighted might be Rear Admiral Howison's flagship, the Chicago, hardly believing Admiral Dewey would arrive two days ahead of time. The doubt was soon cleared away, however, and as passing vessels recognized the flagship from Manila bay there was a continuous blowing of whistles in salute. The Olympia sailed from Gibraltar Sept. 10.

One of the first large vessels to sight the Olympia was the passenger steamer Sandy Hook of the Sandy Hook line, which left Atlantic Highlands shortly after 7 o'clock for her New York dock. Just as she got well under way a war vessel was seen through the fog, and passengers and crew, headed by the Sandy Hook's captain, gathered at the rail to read the newcomer's name. To get near enough to do this the Sandy Hook changed her course and headed directly for the Olympia, blowing her whistle in salute as she did so. As soon as the name was made out the Sandy Hook's passengers cheered with all their might, and in a few moments an answering cheer came over the water from the warship's sailors, many of whom were gathered on deck.

The flagship came up to the lower bay and anchored inside Sandy Hook. As soon as the anchor was dropped an orderly was sent ashore with dispatches from the admiral and other officers. He said the ship had had a pleasant trip across the Atlantic and that all on board were well and glad to be home again.

The Olympia's crew was put to work immediately cleaning ship. Many small vessels are sailing around her and their number is being augmented constantly.

The admiral's early arrival was a matter of great concern to the city authorities who are arranging for New York's official welcome. Secretary Foster of the reception committee went to the city hall early and at once issued a call for a special meeting of the committee. Mr. Foster said he could not forecast the committee's action, but he thought it probable the committee would go down to the Olympia at once and meet the admiral.

Mayor Van Wyck hurried to his office where he found the following telegram: "Olympia arrived this morning. Will go to Tompkinsville tomorrow."

"GEORGE DEWEY."

The mayor advised the calling together of all the city's committees, and telegrams were sent out calling on the members of the plan and scope committee and the various sub-committees to meet as quickly as possible at the city hall. St. Clair McKelway, the chairman of the sub-committee of the reception committee, was the first to arrive. Mr. McKelway thought the reception committee would wait on Admiral Dewey tomorrow instead of on Thursday, and that the admiral would remain at the anchorage of Tompkinsville until Friday. Then the regular reception would take place Friday and Saturday, according to the city's program.

The Sandy Hook steamer Monmouth passed the Olympia early this morning and those on board of her were the first to see Admiral Dewey. One of the Monmouth's passengers said:

"We saw Admiral Dewey quite plainly. He stood alone on the quarterdeck of the warship. Fifteen feet behind him stood eight of his officers in uniform. The admiral alone of all men on board ship acknowledged the cheers of the passengers and crew of the Monmouth. He raised his hat continually, bowing and smiling. The ship looked in fine trim, considering her long voyage, but the exterior of her hull was seamed with rusty streaks."

Today for the first time in many years an admiral's salute was fired in New York bay. Port Hancock saluted with seventeen guns when the Olympia passed, coming in.

There was no demonstration of an official character in Rear Admiral Sampson's fleet off Tompkinsville when the news of the Olympia's arrival was received. Signals announcing Dewey's arrival were hoisted, and there was considerable cheering, which, although a violation of the strict rules and regulations of the navy, was not officially noticed by the commanding officers.

It had been planned that one of the fleet, probably the Texas, would go down to the Hook and escort the admiral's flagship to her anchorage inside the Hook, but, of course, this plan had to be abandoned. There will be no action taken by Rear Admiral Sampson in the matter of saluting Admiral Dewey until the Olympia reaches the upper bay tomorrow.

When the Olympia reaches the upper bay Admiral Dewey will find that the quarantine station will be decorated with 1,500 red, white and blue electric lights. On the terrace are letters nine feet high, spelling "Welcome home." They are set against a natural background of green, and show white in the day time and will be lighted with electricity at night.

When the Olympia, on the day of the Dewey naval parade, rounds the stake boat in North river, the school ship St. Mary's, the boys wearing their white working suits, will man the yards in the saluting custom which obtained when Dewey was a junior officer. This, it is believed, will recall pleasant memories to the admiral and will make a display that is novel in these days of steel ships with masts that are only used for military purposes.

Greater New York is rapidly giving up every other consideration save that of Admiral Dewey. From center to circumference the city is bright with flags. The principal thoroughfares are league-long flames lit by myriads of patriotic hands. Fifth avenue, the modern Appian way, along which there pours the city's tide of wealth, flashes with color from end to end.

With a patriotism not less true or hearts less loyal the people of the tattered flutters their bunting, faded and bedraggled though it be, but signifying everything in the way of genuine enthusiasm.

Altogether the present week will witness a demonstration of national esteem such as this country never saw before. Six times within the memory of living man this city has been draped in honor of its heroes. These six occasions have been occasions of national mourning. Adams, Monroe, Clay, Lincoln, Garfield and Grant form this galaxy of great dead. On that sad spring day fourteen years ago, when the cortege of the hero of Appomattox rolled up Broadway at the head of his old regiment, the great thoroughfare was black—deeply and funnily black—like the bed of a Styx gone dry. Here and there were flashes of color, here and there a blending of flags and crepe, but the general tone was that of a deep and unutterable woe. How different is this magnificent reception to be tendered to a living hero.

In all the ocean of bunting between the Battery and the Bronx there is no hint of sadness. The mothers and sisters and sweethearts and wives of the dead men in Cuba and Luzon are among those who will cheer the returning hero.

One million visitors are already here, and every incoming train on every road is crowded with passengers. It is expected that on parade day 2,000,000 spectators will be gathered along the line of march. It will be the largest crowd ever gathered together in the history of the country.

Gen. Howard has announced that the following organizations of veterans will be in his division: The Duryea zouaves, the One Hundred and Sixty-fifth New York regiment, the Eleventh regiment, Veteran association, the "Old Fighting Fifth" New York heavy artillery, the First regiment of mounted veterans and 250 members of the New York Sons of Veterans.

The reception committee has established the final order of precedence. Admiral Schley will be in a carriage back with the victors, Admiral Sampson will come well up to the head of the naval officers' section, a great distance ahead of Schley, who is to be preceded by the naval officers, Gen. Miles, Gen. Merritt and others.

Washington, Sept. 26.—The following has been received at the navy department: "Sandy Hook, N. J., Sept. 26. Secretary Navy, Washington: Olympia will go to Tompkinsville tomorrow."

"DEWEY."

Tompkinsville is the anchorage for naval vessels off Staten Island.

Volunteers Will Soon Be Home.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 26.—The muster rolls of the Thirtieth Minnesota regiment have all been turned in. Routine work will be entirely completed in two or three days, and the volunteers will have nothing to do but await their discharge a week from today. The South Dakota regiment will be mustered out a week from Thursday. The company clerks have their papers almost finished.

The North Dakotans left for home this afternoon on a special train provided by the state. The Idaho volunteers are already speeding homeward, having left last night on a special train provided at state expense.

September.
"The fields and meadows palling
Lie beneath the hazy sky;
The thistle-down is sailing
By zephyrs slowly by.
The stalks of stubble bleaching
Beneath September's sun,
Seem silently now teaching
Of rest when labor's done."

The golden rod is yellow.
The corn is turning brown;
The trees in apple orchards
With fruit are bending down;
The gentian's bluest fringes
Are curling in the sun;
In dusty pods the milkweed
Its hidden silk has spun.

The sedges flaunt their harvest,
In every meadow nook,
And asters by the brookside
Make asters in the brook.
From dewy lanes at morning
The grape's sweet odors rise;
At noon the roadbirds flutter
With yellow butterflies.

By all these lovely tokens,
September days are here,
With summer's best of weather
And autumn's best of cheer.

October.

Ay, thou art welcome, heaven's delicious breath!
When woods begin to wear the crimson leaf,
And suns grow meek, and the meek suns grow brief,
And the year smiles as it draws near its death.
Wind of the sunny South! Oh, still delay
In the gay woods and in the golden air,
Like to a good old age released from care,
Journeying in long serenity, away.
In such a bright, late quiet, would that I
Might wear out life like thee, 'mid bowers
And brooks,
And, dearer yet, the sunshine of kind looks
And music of kind voices ever night;
And when my last sad twinkled in the glass,
Pass silently from men, as thou dost pass.
—William Cullen Bryant.

How Elephants Cross a River.

It is a great sight to see a line of elephants crossing a river with steep banks. They go down slowly, striking the ground with their trunks before each step, and never making a slip or miss, although you feel every minute as if they were going to take a header into the water. Then they wade or swim, as the case may be, and they swim beautifully, not hesitating to cross half a mile of deep water if it need be.

I must say, however, that the sensation of sitting on the back of a swimming elephant is the reverse of pleasant; you fancy yourself on an enormous barrel which may roll round at any moment and take you under.

Having crossed the stream, they must climb to the top of the bank, and this is the most peculiar operation of all. Down on their knees they go, and with trunk and tusks dig out a foothold for themselves, and so, step by step, work their way to the top, their position being something like that of a fly climbing up a wall. As they reach the top they give a lurch sideways, and shoot one leg straight over the bank, then give a lurch to the other side and shoot out the other leg in the same way, which brings them into the position of a boy hanging by his arms from the edge of a roof. Then they come to their knees, and finally, with a great scramble and kicking of their hind legs, bring themselves to level ground again.—Ex.

Still More Counterfeiting.

The Secret Service has unearthed another band of counterfeiters and secured a large quantity of bogus bills, which are so cleverly executed that the average person would never suspect them of being spurious. Things of great value are always selected by counterfeiters for imitation, notably the celebrated Hotter's Stomach Bitters, which has many imitators but no equals for indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, nervousness and general debility. The Bitters set things right in the stomach, and when the stomach is in good order it makes good blood and plenty of it. In this manner the Bitters get at the seat of strength and vitality, and restore vigor to the weak and debilitated. Beware of counterfeiters when buying.
